

Figure 29. A photograph of the Imagenex 881 tilt-adjusting imaging sonar. The sonar emits beams of high frequency sound which reflect off objects and bedforms on the sea floor. The sonar was deployed at Site 7B from October 2003 through April 2004 and was used to observe sea floor bedforms (ripples).